The Buddha in the Attic

Caches of weapons were discovered in the cellars of Japan, but how the whisper spread, we know not. Our secret Japanese Press, for we have read the stories in the papers, however, who were more than a little favored to see the headlines.

There are certain members of our community, those were good kids. I'll miss them.