“Equality means a man and a woman have the same rights but not the same duties because they are physiological different”. (Muammar Al Kadafi. 07.12.2007, Lisboa University, Portugal.

I love the way in which Josephine Butler's described how Victorian Society was and I like her opinions and suggestions and how she supported women issues and tried to show us their miserable conditions at that time. In fact, we can find the way for equality without ignorance for man's or woman's rights or duties.

When I read Josephine Butler's works I know that we can do much more than holding a broom or a spoon in our hands. We can hold a pencil on a hand to draw life and brush on the other and color a future.
